INFORMATION LITERACY
ACTIVITY 1

Reliable Source Sorting Game:

Try the quiz below that tests you about reliable and unreliable sources. Once finished, explain how you went. Was it fun? What did you learn?

The screenshot shows a game preview for 'Reliable Sources of Information'. It features three question cards, each worth 15 points:

- Card 1: "Reliable VS Unreliable Source of Information? Facebook Newsfeed" (15 points)
- Card 2: "Reliable VS Unreliable Source of Information? Wikipedia" (15 points)
- Card 3: "Reliable VS Unreliable Source of Information? An old magazine based on current topics" (15 points)

The URL <https://www.baamboozle.com/game/894618> is provided at the bottom of the preview.

Wow, this story claims a 101-year-old man finished a marathon! What do you think? Is it a fact, or fake?

- This one sounds like a fact to me.
- I'm not so sure. I think this one is a fake.
