Methodology

Technology Facilitated Gender Based Violence (TF GBV) is an act of violence perpetrated by one or more individuals that is committed, assisted, aggravated and amplified in part or fully by the use of information and communication technologies or digital media, against a person on the basis of their gender – UNFPA.

What is the TF GBV Service Providers Mapping & Why?

The TF GBV Service Providers Mapping aims to identify, document, and visualize organizations in Jordan that provide services, conduct research, or engage in initiatives addressing TF GBV, to enhance collaboration, improve referral pathways, and strengthen collective responses to digital forms of gender-based violence

Methodology Overview

The mapping was developed through a structured process combining desk research, network referrals, and direct verification.

- 1) Desk Research: Relevant organizations were identified through a review of the Jordanian Civil Society Portal, organizations websites, existing protection service providers' mapping documents, and other verified sources.
- 2) Snowball Sampling: Additional organizations were identified through referrals and professional networks, ensuring broader coverage of actors engaged in TF GBV-related work.
- 3) Verification: Each identified organization was contacted through phone calls and emails to confirm their ongoing involvement in TF GBV-related services and initiatives.

Geographic Scope

The mapping covers organizations across northern, central, and southern regions of Jordan, reflecting a comprehensive national overview of service providers in Jordan.
