Supporting young people with learning disabilities and autistic people with relationships and sex education:
Language and Resources

on January 16th 2025 at Greenside

6.30-8.30pm

To book email admin@greenside.herts.sch.uk

Claire Lightley is an experienced Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) practitioner working with people with learning disabilities. Claire began her career in 2001 working for FPA, the sexual health charity as their learning disability project manager. When FPA went into liquidation in 2019 Claire was their Training Director. Claire now owns Bodysense Education, trains professionals and sells some resources to support RSE.

In this session we will discuss the language we use in to deliver RSE and how this can be a bit tricky. We will look at resources that are available to help us teach young people and how explicit we need to be with this type of education.
