EQUALITY, DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION POLICY

Introduction

1. The Equality Act 2010 introduced a single Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) (sometimes also referred to as the 'general duty') that applies to public bodies, including Academies, and extends to certain protected characteristics - race, disability, sex, age, religion or belief, sexual orientation, pregnancy and maternity and gender reassignment.
2. We welcome our duties under the Equality Act 2010 to have due regard to the need to:
 - Eliminate discrimination and other conduct that is prohibited by the Act
 - Advance equality of opportunity for people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it
 - Foster good relations across all characteristics - between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
3. The school complies with the specific duties of the Equality Act to publish equality information annually and to set and publish equality objectives at least every four years. This information would usually be published on the school website.
4. This policy brings together all previous policies, schemes and action plans around equality and sets out the school's commitment to promoting equality and diversity.
5. This scheme is a whole school policy and underpins all other school policies.

Guiding principles

Principle 1: All members of the school community are of equal value

We see all members of the school community as of equal value:

- whether or not they are disabled or neurodivergent
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender and gender identity
- whatever their marital status
- whatever their religious or non-religious affiliation or faith background
- whatever their sexual identity
- whatever their age

Principle 2: We recognise and respect difference

Treating people equally (Principle 1 above) does not necessarily involve treating them all the same. Our policies, procedures and activities must not discriminate but must nevertheless take account of differences of life-experience, outlook and background, and of the kinds of barriers and disadvantage that people may face, in relation to:

- disability or neurodiversity, so that reasonable adjustments are made
- ethnicity, so that different cultural backgrounds and experiences of prejudice are recognised
- different gender identities, and whether that gender identity may or may not be associated with the sex assigned at birth and gender presentation so that we provide a supportive environment to recognise an individual's gender identity, and so that staff and students can share their gender identity or trans status if they wish.
- religion, belief or faith background
- sexual identity
- Age and any possible challenges associated with different life stages

Principle 3: We foster positive attitudes and relationships, and a shared sense of cohesion and belonging

We intend that our policies, procedures and activities should promote:

- positive attitudes towards disabled people, good relations between disabled and nondisabled people, and an absence of harassment of disabled people
- positive attitudes towards neurodivergent people, good relations between neurodivergent and neurotypical people, and an absence of harassment of neurodivergent people
- positive interactions, good relations and dialogue between groups and communities different from each other in terms of ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status, and an absence of prejudice-related bullying and incidents
- mutual respect and good relations between boys and girls, women and men and between those of all gender identities, and an absence of sexual, homophobic, biphobic and transphobic harassment.
- Positive interactions, good relations and dialogue between members of the school community of different ages

Principle 4: We observe good equalities practice in staff recruitment, retention and development

We ensure that policies and procedures should benefit all employees and potential employees, for example in recruitment, promotion, and in continuing professional development:

- whatever their age
- whether or not they are disabled or neurodivergent
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender, marital status and sexual identity, and with full respect for legal rights relating to pregnancy and maternity.

Principle 5: We aim to reduce and remove inequalities and barriers that already exist

In addition to avoiding or minimising possible negative impacts of our policies, we take opportunities to maximise positive impacts by reducing and removing inequalities and barriers that may already exist between:

- disabled (including those with intermittent medical and/or mental health needs) and non-disabled people
- neurodivergent and neurotypical people
- people of different ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- people of different marital status
- people of different gender identities
- people of different ages

Principle 6: We consult and involve widely

We engage with a range of groups and individuals to ensure that those who are affected by a policy or activity are consulted and involved in the design of new policies, and in the review of existing ones. We consult and involve:

- disabled people (including those with intermittent medical and/or mental health needs) and non-disabled people
- neurodivergent and neurotypical people

- people of different ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- people of different gender identities
- people of different sexual identities
- people of different ages
- Students, parents, carers, community and governor links

Principle 7: Society as a whole should benefit

We intend that our policies and activities should benefit society as a whole, both locally and nationally, by fostering greater social cohesion, and greater participation in public life of:

- disabled people and non-disabled people including those with intermittent medical or health needs
- neurodivergent and neurotypical people
- people of a wide range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- people of different gender identities
- people of different sexual identities
- people of different ages
- Students, parents, carers, community and governor links

Principle 8: We base our practices on sound evidence

Evidence relating to equalities is integrated into a range of documentation including our Equality Impact Assessment and the School Evaluation Form.

Principle 9: Objectives

- We formulate and publish specific and measurable objectives based on the consultation we have conducted (principle 6) and the evidence we have collected (principle 8)
- The objectives which we identify take into account national and local priorities and issues, as appropriate.
- We keep our equality objectives under review, publish our objectives and actions taken to fulfil our responsibilities on our website, and report annually to Governors on any matters arising from our monitoring of this.

The curriculum

6. We keep each curriculum subject or area under review in order to ensure that teaching and learning reflect the principles set out above.
7. All students are encouraged to value their own cultural heritage and the culture and lifestyles of others, and to show respect for self and others while at the same time finding common ground to talk to one another and to value living together in a community.
8. The school acts to support staff understanding of their responsibility for establishing a positive climate for debate and extending opportunities for discussion. Staff are encouraged to address widely held misconceptions to avoid the risk of students with limited experience arriving at consensus views of doubtful validity.
9. Each curriculum area has an annual target to diversify and inclusify the curriculum. An EDI strand is included in all Curriculum Maps. Departments are engaged in an ongoing process of curriculum review, using the IESE's Inclusive Curriculum Survey.

Ethos and organisation

- 10. We ensure the principles listed above apply to the full range of our policies and practices, including those that are concerned with:
- students' progress, attainment and achievement

 - care, guidance and support
 - behaviour, discipline and exclusions
 - working in partnership with parents, carers and guardians
 - working with the wider community.

Addressing prejudice and prejudice-related bullying

- 11. The school is opposed to all forms of prejudice which stand in the way of fulfilling the legal duties referred to in Paragraph 1 above:
- prejudices around disability, special educational needs and students with medical needs (including those with intermittent medical or health needs)
 - prejudices around racism and xenophobia, including those that are directed towards religious groups and communities, for example antisemitism and Islamophobia, and those that are directed against Travellers, migrants, refugees and people seeking asylum
 - prejudices reflecting sexism, homophobia, transphobia and biphobia (and any other prejudices relating to gender or sexual identity).
- 12. We keep a record of prejudice-related incidents relating to students and, if requested, provide a report to the local authority about the numbers, types and seriousness of prejudice-related incidents at our school and how they are dealt with.
- 13. Prejudice related incidents involving students are identified, assessed, recorded and dealt with in compliance with our anti-bullying and discrimination incidents policies, and as set out in paragraph 23 below.

Roles and responsibilities

- 14. The Governing Board is responsible for ensuring that the school complies with legislation.
- 15. The Pay and Personnel Committee has consideration regarding the implementation of this policy.
- 16. The Headteacher is responsible for implementing the policy; for ensuring that all staff are aware of their responsibilities and are given appropriate training and support; and for taking appropriate action in any cases of unlawful discrimination.
- 17. A member of the Senior Leadership Team, Deputy Head, has day-to-day responsibility for coordinating implementation of the policy.
- 18. All staff are expected to:
- promote an inclusive and collaborative ethos
 - follow correct procedures for dealing with any prejudice-related incidents that may occur

Information and resources

20. We ensure that the content of this policy is known to all staff and governors and, as appropriate, to all students and their parents and carers.

21. The school is actively creating a range of resources and training materials that discuss and explain concepts of equality, diversity and community cohesion in appropriate detail.

Staff development and training

22. We ensure that all staff, teaching and non-teaching staff, receive appropriate training and opportunities for professional development, both as individuals and as groups or teams. This is facilitated through the school's CPD provision and the appraisal process.

Breaches of the policy

23. Breaches of this policy will be dealt with in the same ways that breaches of other school policies are dealt with. For staff, in line with our grievance, capability or disciplinary procedure as appropriate and as determined by the Headteacher. For students, in line with the Behaviour policy and/or the discrimination incident procedure.

Monitoring and review

24. We collect, study and use quantitative and qualitative data relating to the implementation of this policy, and make adjustments as appropriate.
